My father voted for Trump and acts like Trump. MY mothe stands up for him and does not see his actions as abuse. I can not escape him because my entire country has become like him, or at least those in power. The one thing that made me feel safe and separate is the one thing people want to take away from me. Acting. I'll die before I become the monster my father would be proud of or marry a man of my father's dreams. I lost the capacity to survive because of narcissistic men who needed to crush me.
