Wow. From my own experience Scientology is one of the most misogynist based religions in America. Conservative. Patriarchial.

I hate women who police women. Seriously I have been twitter stalked for the past 2 years by some insane woman wanting to make sure I do not finish my program at SMC. My school has abused me. I have been informed I should be in a relationship. I should have a real job because no man would want me. I Do not want a guy in my life if i can not have a career i want. The 9 to 5 american dream would make me want to reject any men who came my way simply because i would feel caged and hate the men in my life if they had jobs that allowed them freedom, mobility, creativity, exposure, while I was not allowed to be seen, known, or was allowed to express my feelings.
